

HUSTONVILLE.

—Rain Saturday necessitated a suspension of work on our telegraph line and the wires were not put up last week.

—Misses Minnie and Mattie Unwidie gave a cheese cutting, Friday night, in honor of their guest, Miss Minnie Drye, a Bradfordville beauty.

—Last Wednesday morning the mercury was reported as low as 8 on highest elevations, an unusually severe temperature for November. Hustonville couldn't furnish a bushel of seed to her granger customers and wholesale hog killing had to be deferred.

—The revival at the Christian church closed last Tuesday night with 25 additions by baptism and several recommitments. Crowded houses and intense interest throughout the series of Mr. Tharpe's sermons. Universal regrets that engagements forbade his longer continuance.

—Does Senator Sherman actually deprecate the proposed onslaught upon Senator-Elect Bruce? Doesn't he rather point out the informality of the course suggested and point out a programme which will relieve himself of all embarrassments and gratify the mob's demands that Bruce's scalp be sought?

—What is the matter with our railroads? Would they perpetrate our unjust notoriety as the dark and bloody ground by wholesale slaughter of their employees? It is almost of daily occurrence that some unfortunate is sacrificed and threatened extermination of the exposed railroad laborers cries loud for protection in some shape.

—Corn gathering was under general headway last week, but inclement weather retarded progress. A few of the latest crops gathered by early frosts, but the main crops are excellent. Wheat was brought to a stand still by the blizzard, early last week, and many of the late sown fields still appear bare, when viewed from a distance.

—Sacramental services will be held at the Presbyterian church on the 14th Sabbath. Is there not some mistake in report that Collector J. D. Hubson can find 300 families in Woodford county without a Bible? Woodford is the banner home-grass county of Kentucky, agriculturally, there being no inferior farms within her borders and no poor land, except along Kentucky River bluffs. If correct we predict that investigation will develop a disproportionately large colored population responsible for the situation. Is it true that foreign missions have so thoroughly absorbed the exertions of the faithful that home missionary work is woefully neglected? What a commentary if true. The mountain people are the greatest church goers generally in the State. In '78, a minister of the gospel, one of a fishing party, readily complied with a request of the mountaineers that he would make an appointment to preach on the river bank Sunday morning. Having with him only a Greek Testament, he asked if any of the neighboring families had a Bible and hymn book. Mr. Blank, who lived but five miles from that point had a Bible and it would be procured for the occasion. It was Friday that the appointment was authorized and in 24 hours nearly 100 square miles of country was notified of the promised sermon. Mr. Blank, a new and then preacher, or exhorter, was promptly on hand with Anderson's translation of the New Testament and a Baptist hymn book. A rumor that moose had broken out in the neighborhood deterred a majority of the natives from attending, still a large and one of the most attentively well-behaved congregations the writer ever saw assembled on that river bank and probably but one of the entire crowd who could boast ownership of a Bible.

The following is from a gentleman at Bee Lick:

A grand and noble wedding Mr. Mack Reynolds A son of R. W. Reynolds Lives near Bee Lick Ky married Miss Mollie E. Proctor A daughter of George Proctor A citizen of Rockcastle, Co. Ky, married on last Wednesday and after a short time they returned back to R. W. Reynolds and after a short time they started to a speaking at the East school house and on their way to that place as it happened they had to go by his Grand father's and Mr. Reynolds Called his grand father out and says this is my wife and his grandfather shakes hands with him and says I Wish you much joy first a girl and then a boy Mack taken it all right but Mollie dropped her head just as she was ashamed but Mack told her she need not to drop her head at that far that was a thing of nothing they visit her fathers last Saturday night and they are living as well as you could expect. ## THE CITY COUNCIL'S RESPONSE.

To The Interior Journal, The Citizens of Stanford and the Subscriber.

We, the members of the Board of Trustees of the City of Stanford, would respectfully solicit the attention of the citizens and "subscriber" for a few moments, in order that both sides of a question, which is of interest to you on the one hand and on the other involving the integrity and faithfulness of your humble servants. Under ordinary circumstances our grapes would give us as private individuals the crump, but under color of office we will vomit them up without even the smell of an antidote. In the previous issue of this paper someone among himself a subscriber and for reasons unknown to us, concluding to name, has seen proper to pounce down upon the City Fathers and heap unjust accusations and censure, as we think, upon us.

In the first place, he has accused us indirectly of a misappropriation of the city funds, and calls upon us for a printed statement of the receipts and disbursements of said funds. In answer to this charge we most emphatically deny that any of said fund has been used for other purposes than the necessary expenses of the city and in making various improvements, such as opening new streets, macadamizing some and putting in street lamps, in doing all of which we used our best judgment and discretion in order that all of the citizens might be benefited, our city better laid off and opened up for building purposes. The statement which the subscriber so loudly and appealingly demands of us, was published through the columns of this paper last April, just as our charter requires, to which we now refer and make a part of this letter.

The subscriber next accuses us of partiality in locating the street lamps. We answer this by asking him to count the lamps on the east side of the court house, which is the central point of our city, and then count those on the west side. We claim and aver that there are at least three or four more on the west side than on the east. We will further assert that we do not believe there is a single good citizen in our city, who will say that a single lamp has been placed except where good judgment and reasonable care did not require it of us. It was our purpose to keep in position a lamp at each of the bridges. In the city limits, because we deemed it exceedingly dangerous to travelers at such points. In pursuance of this purpose a lamp was placed at the Hustonville bridge, west of the city and kept there until the vandals, or some of their kind and kin, destroyed it.

In regard to the improvement of pavements in the east end, we beg to inform the subscriber that every foot of said pavement was built at the expense of the owners of the property in front of whose premises said pavement was laid. We have always wanted to deal fairly and honestly with all of our citizens and we do not think that it would be just, fair and impartial to require those in the east end to first pay for their own pavements and then to pay an enormous and extravagant sum for west end improvements.

It seems to us unnecessary to state for the benefit of the subscriber that the cost of building pavements, procuring the necessary right of way, &c., therefor has been the only longbar and hindrance to much improvements on the part of the city council in the west end. The new street to which our friend refers has been opened for some time and the city council merely sold it to the Logan's Creek & Stanford Turnpike and took stock in said road in order that said road might be extended. We certainly feel that we did nothing wrong, and although one or two of us have been privately benighted, still that same one or two trustees, as private individuals, subscribed liberally to the capital stock of said company and were put to considerable expense besides in order that they might secure said benefit. And moreover, we have every reason to believe and do now believe that the subscriber is more than delighted that said road is in existence and we feel confident that a large proportion of our business men and tax-payers have been greatly benefited by the same.

The subscriber charges us with violating and repudiating our contracts with some of the citizens of the west end. Under our charter and by-laws we have what is called a street committee, whose duty it is to look after the various street improvements of the city. J. G. Carpenter, one of this committee, we are informed, made a contract with himself to put in a pavement in front of his premises at the expense of the city and receive in addition a bonus of $9 for removing his fence, he voluntarily giving us the right of way over the Stanford & Danville turnpike, over which he had no control. All of which when reported to the council was deemed too generous on his part, and for fear that his nerve would be overtaxed and "stretched" beyond endurance, was promptly declared null and void. Perhaps the other contracts to which the subscriber has reference were of a similar nature to the above. Every one can easily see by reference to our charter that the aforesaid committee has no power or authority to make contracts. All contracts are made by the city council and we beg to advise our subscriber of the fact that no such contracts as he mentions were ever entered into by said council.

One of our board has been quoted as giving vent to a very bitter expression toward the citizens of the west end. In his behalf we deem it just and right to say that whilst our brother may have used such language, still we do not believe nor does the subscriber believe that he said it in the same spirit the said subscriber would lead you to believe.

The public well in Macksville has plenty of water and is on the west end of town, mentioned doubtless by mistake by the subscriber. The other public well to which he calls attention is over seventy years old and only one-third of which belongs to the city. Our subscriber has doubtless misplaced his memorandum of the birth of said well.

It seems to us that the subscriber has overplayed the hands of discretion and in his comments takes occasion to censure us because the good citizens of the city have seen proper to elect us as its officers. This seems to us to be a very uncalled for remark. We realize and cheerfully assert that no matter on which side of Lancaster street in which we may chance to be situated, it is our duty to look to the interests of all within our city limits.

In regard to the water works, we will say that we made a contract which was pronounced by our city attorney and Col. W. C. Welch to be a good one for the city, and we have every reason to believe that had the company been financially able to construct them our citizens and constituents would have been well satisfied with it. It is still our intention to prepare said water works if possible and in this end we are using our utmost endeavors in present.

We are not suffering from any "scarcity" of trouble, we only need more funds and the hearty cooperation of the citizens to build up a good and substantial city and have its streets paved with gold. We are almost persuaded, like the good shepherd of ancient days, to leave the ninety and come and go in pursuit of the last one, too, Gabriel and lead Thomas gently back into the fold and we will forgive the past and dismiss you from our presence with the injunction to "go and sin no more."

Let the prodigal west end man return to his first love and meet with us once more and if he then finds it impossible to associate with corrupt and unfaithful others, then in such an event stay at home as of old, draw his annual salary and let his constituents still labor under the delusion that their west end man is doing his whole duty and nothing but his duty.

In writing this article we have endeavored to give a correct and honest statement of the workings of your city fathers, and whilst we have no desire to enter into a controversy through a newspaper, still our records are always open to inspection and we invite any of our constituents to bring their complaints to us and visit us while open for the transaction of business, resting assured that you will receive a fair and impartial bearing at our hands. And now having fully answered our subscriber, we beg that in the future harmony and good will will ever abide among us and let the east and the west ends "pull" together for the good of all concerned.

Your most obedient servants,
THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES,
By D. W. VANDEVER, Mayor.

"The Boyle County Democrat."—Dandville is to have another newspaper, to be known as the Boyle County Democrat and the initial number will appear about Jan. 1st, under the management of T. M. Morrow, of Mt. Sterling, and Thos. C. Fox, of this city. The paper will be issued as a semi-weekly and, as indicated by its title, will be democratic in politics. Jos. Haas has shut down his turkey slaughtering establishment until Dec. 1st. He killed about 7,000 for the New York and Boston Thanksgiving trade, and paid 6 cents per pound for the birds delivered. E. W. Lee sold 30 feeding cattle, weight 1,200 pounds, to Sam Harris, of Lincoln, at $8.55, and 10 head of yearlings to Mat Sandidge at $3.—Advocate.

—A Polish inventor claims to have discovered a process of manufacturing smokeless and odorless coal at a cost of $1 a ton.

—The Kentucky delegation is said to stand as follows for the speakership: For Crisp—Stone, Ellis, Goodnight, Montgomery, McCreary—5. For Mills—Breckinridge, Paynter, Dickerson and Kendall—1. For McMillan—Caruth.

—A fireman on the C. & O. named C. C. Hall, seduced the 16-year-old daughter of Editor J. W. Pomfroy, at Covington, and on being locked up in jail with a felonious charge against him, he offered to marry the girl and the offer was accepted and the knot tied.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—Jeweler John B. Oakley has a new baby boy at his house.

—Little Bessie, daughter of E. H. Hackney, is down with pneumonia.

—Miss Martha Sutton, daughter of H. C. Sutton, died Friday night of typhoid fever.

—Tom Province's son, Jim, got his arm caught on a saw while throwing a belt at the Eureka Planing Mill, last Friday, and got a terribly severe cut.

—The jury in the Noble Smith case, for killing Charles Cawood, brought in a verdict of "not guilty." Judge M. C. Santley's speech is said to have been the best made in the case, although R. L. Ewell, A. H. Clark, W. O. Bradley, T. P. Hill, H. C. Eversole, John A. Black, D. K. Lawlings and perhaps others delivered very able ones. George Thompson, of East Bernstadt, charged with robbing Robert Barnes, was given two years in the penitentiary. He expects to get a new trial. Dale Reid, for shooting through a door of Mrs. Lacey, was fined $100 and 25 days. Frank Medley, for shooting Bill Miller, was fined $100. All other cases tried were of no importance. The grand jury indicted George Gragg for murder in the killing of Bob Miller, at Pittsburg, and his bond was fixed at $5,000. They also failed to indict Ed Hale for killing Tom Beckner, the evidence showing justification. They indicted the express agent here for delivering C. D. H. packages supposed to contain liquor. The Fulton case, brought here from Whiteley, is set for trial Friday. A good many miscellaneous indictments for liquor, pistols &c., have been found.

SOUTH FORK.

—Little James, a little son of Mr. W. F. Jones, was kicked by a horse a few days ago and narrowly escaped being killed.

—Mr. Richard Cates, an old citizen, fell one day last week and broke his arm. Mr. W. T. Richards is dangerously ill of pneumonia.

—Thanksgiving day will be observed by most of our citizens. The school will be closed, of course, as the teacher is a democrat, and has much for which to be thankful.

—There was a regular old-fashioned "hee down" at the widow Mason's last Saturday night and the young folks tripped the light fantastic till the "wee sma' hours" to the music of a couple of French harps operated by a couple of McKinney duels. And now New Salem church will have some important work to do in the way of arranging some of its members for violating the church law against dancing.

—Middleburg seems to be enjoying a boom just now. While there last Saturday we noticed in course of erection a dwelling for Prof. J. N. Hull, one for Mrs. Grider and one for Dr. I. S. Wesley, while Thos. Miller and others contemplate building between now and spring. It is devoutly hoped that Middleburg may yet become a more than ordinary village and with one of the best schools in the country, we believe she will.

—Mr. William Holden, who married Miss Bettie Jeffries, is having some trouble with that lady just now. They were married about a year ago, but only lived together a few days, when she (Mrs. Holden) "picked up her duds" and moved her washing, since which time she has lived with her father, near Pleasant Point, vowing that she would have nothing to do with another man while life lasted. But, on the contrary, she went to Boyd & Co.'s mill one day last week, where Mr. Holden has a position as foreman, and informed him that she had come to live with him and intended to do so regardless of his wishes. Mr. Holden informed her that she would do nothing of the kind and advised her to go home and leave him alone. She refused to do so, but hung around for a day or two, crying and pleading to be again taken back to his arms. He stoutly refused and hid out to avoid her until Friday morning, when he took the train for Cincinnati and has not been heard of since. The sympathies of the people are with Mr. Holden. There are various opinions as to the cause of Mrs. Holden's return to her husband, but it is generally believed she thought there was an opportunity to make a little money out of him.

A remarkable contribution to the statistics of prohibition is made by the Chicago Tribune in the shape of the following table.

PROHIBITION STATES.
Iowa 1 saloon to every 455 people.
Kansas 1 saloon to every 823 people.
Vermont 1 saloon to every 865 people.
Maine 1 saloon to every 702 people.

LICENSE STATES.
Alabama 1 saloon to every 1,183 people.
Arkansas 1 saloon to every 1,170 people.
S. Carolina 1 saloon to every 1,153 people.
Mississippi 1 saloon to every 1,017 people.
N. Carolina 1 saloon to every 1,003 people.

This table, in which Iowa easily bears away the banner, is compiled from official returns. Comment upon it unnecessary.

The Louisville Times tells this over true tale, which shows the baleful results of the worst trade the people could have made: "When the democratic party surrendered the presidency and the House of Representatives to the republican party March 4, 1883, there were $130,000,000 and upward cash in the treasury available for purposes other than the ordinary expenses of the government. To-day the sum is reduced to less than $5,000,000, and it would have been altogether extinguished had not Secretary Foster negotiated a new loan. Verily, the American people made the worst trade in history, since they traded with Jacob, when they swapped Grover Cleveland for Ben Harrison and John G. Carlisle for Tom Reed."

MINNEAPOLIS was chosen by the republican national committee for the convention to nominate presidential candidates and Jan. 7, 1892, as the day. With the help of St. Paul the crowd may be accommodated, but it is doubtful. Col. Bradley, the Kentucky member, made a strong speech for Chattanooga, but his party seems as fearful of coming South with its convention as it is of nominating a southern man for the office, and but three others voted with him for that place. The republicans hope that by going to the Northwest, which has become a debatable ground, to create so much enthusiasm that they will be able to hold what they need to consider their own without question.

SINCE the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette has espoused the cause of Foraker for U. S. Senator, it does not mind telling tales and had ones at that on Senator Sherman. It says that in two of the five elections that have made him senator, money cut an important figure, or to be plainer, his election on those two occasions was obtained by the wickedest kind of bribery. Heretofore, according to this great and good sheet, the democrats alone put up the office to the highest bidder. It is said indeed to be told by one of it that the party which claims all the goldness and all the morality permit such flagrant violations of its professions to go unchallenged.

THE unscrupulousness of some of the Catholic priests and the strange influence they have over their people, as shown in the fact that Father McBride made a dying man will him all of his property before he would administer the last sacrament. This fact was proved in court and the property ordered divided among the man's natural heirs. The designing priest escaped punishment here, but he will doubtless catch it hereafter, if there is a hell, and we hope and believe there is.

THE Georgia Courts have no special admiration for those Napoleons of finance, who succeed in filling for $2,000,000 or more without any assets in sight. Steve Ryan, of Atlanta, who performed that remarkable feat, has been ordered to put up $125,000 or be shut up until he purges himself of contempt. This is the last day of grace and it remains to be seen whether this full handed swindler thinks more of his ill gotten gains than of his freedom.

FONSECA, after denying strenuously that there was any trouble in Brazil, seems to have at last tumbled to the fact that there is a pretty smart sized revolution on hand. At any rate he has resigned the presidency in favor of Vice-President Floriano Peixotto, satisfied that a good run is better than a bad stand, especially since it was evident that the people had had enough of his dictator business.

THE Cincinnati Daily Enquirer is euphemistically a newspaper. It makes printing the news a business and the item that escapes it is usually not worth the type or space. In addition to the news the weekly edition gives a vast amount of information for the farmer and all other classes and is one of the best all around weeklies published. See prospectus and premiums offered in another column.

KENTUCKY will be entitled to 26 delegates to the National republican convention, four to be selected from the State at large and two from each congressional district, to be chosen by conventions. Col. W. O. Bradley will head the list and the delegates will vote with him solidly for Harrison, the opinion of the bald headed druggist of Frankfort to the contrary notwithstanding.

Gov. A. P. HOVEY, of Indiana, died Monday of disease contracted in a recent visit to Mexico. He had been supreme judge and during the war rose from colonel to brevet major general. Lt. Gov. Chase, a preacher politician of the Reform persuasion, has succeeded to the governorship.

WE are rather surprised to see Gov. McCreary put down for Crisp for the Speakership as he is a Mills kind of a democrat. Bynum, of Indiana, has withdrawn for the race and come out for Mills, who seems to have the call even if Tammany is against him.

THE election of a democratic U. S. Senator and the repeal of a most unfair and partisan gerrymander law seem assured in New York. The Senate will stand democratic 16, republican 15, independent 1, insuring with the casting vote of the democratic lieutenant governor, a democratic organization. The house will stand 66 democrats to 62 republicans, making the vote on the joint ballot safely democratic, another thing that made yesterday's Thanksgiving unusually strong for the democrats.

NUMEROUS places for a conference of delegates to prepare a charter for the 5th class towns of the State having been suggested and no point settled on, Mayor D. W. Vandever proposes as a compromise, that the city of Louisville be fixed as the place and Dec. 14th, as the day for the meeting. He further suggests that all the mayors of towns of that class signify their endorsement of the suggestion in a note to the Courier-Journal, which is requested to call attention to this proposition.

SENATOR JOHN G. CARLISLE has declared for Mills for speaker, and McMillan, of Tennessee, will withdraw from the contest and vote for him. Harrah for Mills.

—Hood & Packer fed 20 hogs that weighed 1,050 pounds and at the expiration of 42 days they weighed 2,050 lbs., a gain of 1,000 pounds, or an average of 14 pounds a day on each hog. They were fed good water, good corn and good clover. —Flouring Gazette.

—There were 500 cattle on the Winchester market Monday. No strictly choice feeders offered; 41 good feeders weighing 1,200 lbs., brought $3.40. Several lots of lighter steers, from 1,000 to 1,100 lbs., brought from $3.00 to $3.25. Common cattle were not wanted.

—For Sale—One pair nice match horses, 15 1/2 hands high, one 1 and the other 5 years old, drive well single or double, also a splendid combined mare, 4 years old next spring, by Silver King, and a No. 1 saddle horse six years old, by Stonewall Jackson, Jr. R. H. Bromm, Crab Orchard.

—C. C. Knight, of the Louisville and Covington bookmaker, has bought the famous Elmendorf farm, near Lexington, from D. Swigert, for $65,000 cash. It contains 544 acres. Mr. Swigert in nine years sold over $300,000 worth of yearlings from its paddocks, and it is one of the most famous breeding farms of its size in the United States. It is Mr. Knight's intention to continue breeding thoroughbreds on it.

—At this time last year 31 to 1 was the range of the hog market. Two years ago it was 3 to 1 and the corresponding time in 1888 it was 5 to 1 to 5 to 7. Prices for common and medium grades of cattle are about where they were 12 months ago. The best corn fed cattle are fully $1 per 100 lbs. higher than then. Yesterday's London cable quoted choice American cattle at 12 1/2; one year ago the quotation was 11 1/2, the market having advanced 1 1/2 to 2 cents within the space of a week. —Chicago Live Stock Gazette.

—Work on the new livery stable is progressing finely.

—Carey Mullins, a colored man, has been granted a pension at the rate of $12 per month.

—The Central Record came out a day ahead this week in order to give the office force a much needed rest.

—The negro, Bill Farris, who was shot accidentally on "Battle row" a short time ago, is able to be out again.

—The meeting at the Baptist church continues with unabated interest. Up to the present writing they have had seven additions.

—The "Four o'clock Club" was handsomely entertained by Mrs. Joe Weisiger, on last Friday afternoon. This club consists of the married ladies of the town and the object is to discuss practical housekeeping.

—Mrs. Mary E. Holmes has again taken charge of Miller's Hotel, which she will no doubt conduct in a style well calculated to please the public. The Mason House, which Mrs. Holmes has vacated, is for rent.

—Your correspondent was exceedingly sorry to see in the last INTERIOR JOURNAL where Engineer Phil Soden, of the L. & N., was crippled while working on his engine. Having worked on the road with Phil and being thrown with him often, I can say that a truer man or a more faithful employee never worked for the "Ellen N." [He is not badly hurt Ed.]

—In the notice of the number of signatures to the petition to take a vote on the sale of liquor in Lancaster and district No. 7, the statement that there were 200 signatures should have been only 27.

—The widow of the late Spencer G. Dalney has been granted a pension on account of the service of her son, Logan Dalney, who served as a dragoon in the U. S. Regulars. Everybody has heard of Uncle Spencer Dalney, who had more natural wit than any man of his time.

—Miss Maud Robinson, a pupil from Sayre, Institute, Lexington, has returned home for the Thanksgiving holidays. Miss Ella Marrs, of Lexington, is the guest of Miss Bettie Marrs, Mrs. Woodford G. Burdip and children, Eugenia and George, are visiting the family of Gen. Landrum. The following young gentlemen are home for the Thanksgiving turkey: Will Walden, University, Lexington; Kirk Kirby, Centre College; Horace Herndon, Hoge's Academy, Danville; Louis Walker, Central University, Richmond. Mrs. W. H. Crow, Camp Nelson, is visiting at her father, Breckinridge Brown's. She is accompanied by her four children, Robert, Charlie and Marietta. Mrs. Geo. Brown and son, Master McKinzie, are visiting relatives in the country.

—This afternoon at 5:30, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. A. B. Brown, Miss Maggie Brown will be married to Mr. F. Coleman Gully. Owing to the recent death of James H. Brown, brother of the bride, the wedding will be a very quiet affair, only the immediate friends of the contracting parties being present.

—Capt. E. W. Lillard has sold the two story building now occupied by R. H. Hanson, to Col. Joe Weisiger. The terms are private. We are exceedingly sorry today that Capt. Lillard cannot please himself by leaving the city. He is a general, pleasant gentleman, always ready to give his time and money for the public's interest and our citizens will all be glad to let the place belong to him.

—Ed. Z. T. Sweetney, counsel general to Constant people, has resigned. He was born and bred in Casey county.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL
TANFORD, KY., NOVEMBER 27, 1891
E. C. WALTON, BUS. MANAGER

MEANS BUSINESS.
ENGRAVING beautifully and artistically done at A. R. Penny's.
Your account is now ready. Please call and settle. A. R. Penny.
Have your watch, clock and jewelry repaired at A. R. Penny's. All work warranted.
Remember that all silverware, watches, rings, etc., bought at A. R. Penny's will be engraved free of charge.

PERSONAL POINTS.
Mr. G. H. Croghan returned from Lexington Wednesday.
Miss Margaret Tucker is visiting the Misses Menefee.
Mrs. Robert McAtister is visiting friends at Hustonville.
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. GARDNER and family are visiting in Boyle.
Mrs. S. P. SANDERSON and son, Stewart, are visiting the Misses Hendley.
Dr. L. B. Cook and family are spending a few days with friends at Burnside.
Mrs. Dren, wife of Conductor G. W. Delph, is visiting Miss Lizzie Davidson.
Mr. and Mrs. L. H. RAYSON, of Lexington, are with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Ramsey.
Mrs. W. G. Wren is out after a spell caused by encountering two blizzards while in Texas.
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McROBERTS spent Thanksgiving with Miss Holme at Daughters College.
Hos. B. B. EDMISTON and wife are in Louisville, where the latter is under medical treatment.
Mrs. R. C. FERGUSON and J. W. FERGUSON are visiting Mrs. J. S. Humdry in Washington county.
Mr. B. VAN ANSILAND, who has been quite ill, is improving. Dr. W. N. Craig, of Louisville, has been with him a week or two.
Miss Tina W. Wren, a little Kentucky beauty, passed up to Crab Orchard yesterday to visit her mother, Mrs. E. W. Dillion.
In the dramatic contest between the literary societies of Centre College Tuesday night, W. H. Starks, of this place, and R. G. Williams, of Mt. Vernon, represented the Philomathean and acquitted themselves very handsomely.
Miss JEAN BUCHANAN, who has been with her sister in Louisville for several months, returned to Crab Orchard Wednesday, accompanied by Mr. John A. Haldeman, of the Times, who came up to get turkey with Col. John Buchanan.

CITY AND VICINITY
New line of beautiful wall paper at W. B. M. Roberts.
New line of gent's underwear, etc., at the best ever in our city. See at once & son.
P. W. GIBBS, of two Myers' House, opened a fine feast yesterday and kept open house to his friends.
Mr. L. J. JONES will do well to attend the sale of 50 mule colts at Halden's stable, in Danville, Ky., December 1st. 21
The Centre College foot ball team went all the way to Nashville, to play the Vanderbilt University team, but it failed to show up and the visitors were shabbily treated generally.
THREE HUNDRED pairs of sample gloves, a bag lot of silk handkerchiefs, mittens, suspenders, socks, ties, etc. All must be closed at once, as the room will be vacated in a few weeks. Cash Bargain Store, J. S. Jones.
The first order for a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica came from Mr. James Muret, Mt. Vernon, who orders the 15-volume set sent to Mrs. M. P. Smith, Cleveland, Va., and takes the books himself. Read the offer and go and do likewise.
Mr. M. F. ELKIN remembered the editor with us fine and let a turkey as you ever stunk a knife into, for which we will show our gratitude by killing the first man who says he ever has or ever will sell a piece of tough steak. Take him up one side and down the other. Mr. Elkin is about as clever a man in any way you look at him as you will find in a day's journey.
The Portman House set a Thanksgiving dinner yesterday that fully proved its capacity in that line. There was everything that heart could desire, prepared in a most tempting manner and the patrons and invited guests enjoyed the spread to the fullest extent. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Colley are more than sustaining the reputation of this excellent hostelry.
The Union Thanksgiving Service was held in the Presbyterian church yesterday, which had been appropriately prepared by the deacons of the ladies of the Christian Endeavor Society. The pulpit was ornamented with cereals, fruits and other products of the soil, which has so bountifully responded to the tiller this year, and was most artistically arranged. Rev. A. V. Sizemore, of the Baptist church, preached from the 103d Psalm to a large congregation and his suggestions on thanks and thanksgiving were well delivered and timely.

Boss, to the wife of E. J. Tanner, of McKinney, a girl, his first.
WANTED—2,000 turkeys at once. Highest market price paid. A. T. Nunneley.
Store Fixtures.—Scales, lamps, stove, show cases, etc., for sale at a bargain. J. S. Jones.
Call and get a pair of those famous boots, $1.95, opposite Portman House. J. S. Jones.
We opened yesterday a new line of ladies' and children's underwear, hosiery, etc. Severance & Son.
The Centre College foot ball team beat the Central University 22 to 6 on the neutral ground of Nicholasville Wednesday.
For Rent.—The double store room now occupied by Joe S. Jones, possession given the first day of January, 1892. Apply to R. Williams, Stanford, Ky.
Go to J. S. Jones' Cash Bargain Store for boots, underwear, clothing, etc. Only a few weeks longer will the closing-out sale last.
Black veil dropped on the street between Rev. Ben Helm's gate and Dr. Carpenter's house. Finder returning same to Rev. Ben Helm will be rewarded.
SUBSCRIBERS of the INTERIOR JOURNAL can save from 25c to $1.50 on magazines and other periodicals ordered through us. Cash must invariably accompany the order.
I am back in my old stand and will be glad to see my old customers and as many new ones as my store, groceries and confectioneries cheaper than ever. W. H. Brady.
S. J. CHAMBERLAIN, who used to live here, has moved into an editor and publisher since moving to Aberdeen, Washington, and his paper, the Weekly Bulletin, gives evidence that he knows what to write and how to write it most entertainingly.
The railroad men pass persons to the educational meeting at Louisville at 11 for the round trip, tickets good Dec. 1st to 15th. The Fifth Avenue Hotel will be headquarters, where a rate of $1.50 a day will be made when more than one person occupies a room.
The Centre College Alumni, of Louisville, gave a banquet Tuesday night, at which Mr. John W. Yerkes responded to the toast, "Centre College—its Future in its present development." Hon. David Whitewater was elected president and Judge E. T. Fox vice-president of the association.
If our merchants were thankful yesterday they failed to show it by shutting up their stores and going to church. If causing a sign of thankfulness, however, the banks and the post-offices are always duly and truly thankful. The only case in case as an oyster yesterday, the other observed Sunday hours.
Mr. HENRY CAMMIS, who has had charge of the Weatherford House at Hustonville, left his first love and moved to the Vendome, at the same place. Mr. C's reputation as a hotel man is so well known as to make comments unnecessary, while Mrs. Cammis, who will have charge of the dining room, is a cousin of the first order.
ATKINSON'S BOTTLES, booked to appear here last night, and the Josephine Riley Company, which wrote for a date, have both gone to pieces. Perhaps it is best. There are no many trouper on the road anyway. Beach & Flowers are not among the number, however, but with a finer minstrel show than ever, will be with us without fail Friday night, Dec. 1.
This ad poster for the Northwestern National was here this week and refused to pay the insurance in full on Mr. T. M. Pennington's house, which was entirely consumed. Mr. P. wants all or nothing, and if he can't get his rights without it, will appeal to the courts, which will doubtless make the company do what everybody thinks it ought to do without a word.
JAMES P. CROW, formerly opened the Commercial Hotel at McKinney Wednesday, by giving a grand dinner to which a number of his friends were invited. The dinner happened to be one of the best and can testify to the fact that it was a grand dinner in every detail. Mr. Crow makes a splendid host and the Commercial Hotel is bound to succeed under his management.
Mrs. A. D. REEDS class in elocution will give a literary and musical entertainment in Walton's Opera House on the night of Dec. 15, in which Miss Bessie Reed, Annie Green, Mary Henderson, Ophelia Lackey, Susie Linsley, Lizzie Menefee, Jennie Warren, Clara Lackey, Mattie Vandever, Essie Birch, Annie Shanks, Mattie Owsley, Kittie Banghman and Messrs. Will and Joe Severance will take part. Admission 25, reserved seats 35, children 15 cents.
—Harper Bros. of New York, will send free to any Sunday-school applying, a full supply of Christmas music.
—Esquire E. B. Caldwell, Jr., writes that Pastor A. J. Pike and Elder A. Mobly closed a meeting at the Wayneburg church on the 22d with 13 additions. The Sunday-school there is in a most flourishing condition.

THE MASKED BALL.—The one who suggested that Thanksgiving be celebrated in a masquerade hall had the supreme satisfaction of seeing his expectations realized to the fullest extent, for it proved an exceedingly enjoyable occasion to the large number who took part. Some of the costumes were very handsome, the disguises were almost without exception complete and many were the surprises when the masks were removed. The girls in their fancy costumes looked unusually lovely and a number of the gallant knights bore themselves with historic dignity and pomp. The music was good; the supper at Zimmer's excellent; the order commendable and the enjoyment complete. Following are the names of the lady maskers and the characters they represented: Miss Annie Alcorn, Independence.
Miss Mary Alcorn, American Navy.
Miss Mattie Vandever, Lady of 18th.
Miss Nannie Vandever, Maud Muller.
Miss Lala D. Slaughter, of Danville, Night.
Miss Nannie Matton, Danville, a mountain pink.
Miss Sue Runt, Betsy Blossom.
Miss Ophelia Lackey, Peasant Girl.
Miss Clara Lackey, Night.
Miss Mattie Owsley, Flower Girl.
Miss Ella May Summers, Night.
Miss Maggie Owsley, Queen of Hearts.
Miss Bessie Reid, Nun.
Mrs. G. C. Keller, Jr., Lina.
Miss Margaret Graham, Cincinnati, Flower Girl.
Among the other ladies who danced but did not mask were Misses Helen Sanley, Gertrude Howard, Annie Hale, Mrs. W. B. Penny and Mrs. T. A. Rice.
The gentlemen who took part were C. C. Brown, Highland Scot; Harry Drake, Danville, sailor; J. S. Owsley, Jr., Scotch lassie; John Banghman, Danville, Zouave; R. G. Denny, William Tell; G. C. Keller, Jr., Astrologer; W. R. McKinney, devil; J. E. Embury, Harlequin; J. B. Ventry, Carmelite; Dr. W. B. Penny, Damon; and W. H. Western, Pythias; G. T. Lackey, Heathen Chinese; E. H. Jones, Duke of Buckingham; Joe Jones, Mountain Boomer; J. C. Bell, Tom Co. Larson, Jerry; J. W. Bell, Jr., clown; E. T. Walton, negro; W. A. Fribble, sailor.
Among the visiting gentlemen who seemed to get much enjoyment out of the entertainment were Messrs. James I. Crutchfield, traveling freight agent of the E. & N. and W. F. Sheridan, chief train dispatcher; Chas. Anderson, John Barra and Jack Robinson, of Lancaster, and the Rice Brothers, of Danville. The dance was kept up almost till broad daylight and the boys went home with the girls in the morning, with but a single regret in my heart, and that was that the happy event had passed into a memory.

MATrimonIAL MATTERS.
—Marriage license was issued Wednesday to Hugo Schantz to wed Mrs. Emilie Wagh at Oronheim on Dec. 6.
—W. J. Kirkpatrick and Miss Cora Raugh, just "sweet sixteen," celebrated Thanksgiving by being single husband and wife.
—G. T. Hinds, a widower of 16 years, and Mrs. Nancy Ann Denny, a widow of 37, obtained license yesterday to wed this afternoon.
—Mrs. Annie Ingalls, an Indiana bride of but 21 hours, eloped with Bert Lowry, a former lover, and the two made good their escape.
—Mr. E. R. Davis, of Dillon, and Miss Alice Stuart were married at Crab Orchard yesterday evening, of which we will have a fuller account in our next. Meanwhile we congratulate the groom on winning so excellent a lady and wish them both full realization of their brightest hopes.
—Mr. W. A. Colley, a prosperous farmer of the McKinney section, was married Tuesday, near Somerset, to Mrs. Nunnelle, a handsome young widow. They came up to Mr. Colley's home on Wednesday, where a fine dinner was given by his many friends and at which a number of them were present. The Interior Journal wishes them a long life, full of happiness.
—We hope our friend, S. C. Lackey, of Atlanta, Ga., will not sue us for libel for getting him mixed with his cousin of the same name in Chero, Texas, and publishing to the world that he was about to marry. The mistake was quite natural and we hope no harm was done thereby to cause some hearts to mourn, till the error was explained and then the joy over balanced the grief.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.
—Mr. Wm. Adams is building a residence in White's addition.
—Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Miller are rejoicing over the adv.
—S. H. Kinley and family have moved from Middleboro to this county.
—A night office has been opened at Sinks, with V. W. Owens in charge.
—Mr. B. Smith and family, after some years' residence in Texas, have returned to Rockcastle, the land of their nativity.
—A negro woman was killed at Livingston by the north-bound express yesterday morning. Particulars not known.
—Mr. H. H. Baker was painfully injured by his horse falling with him yesterday morning. He is now able to hobble around.
—One of your subscribers here has taken advantage of your very liberal offer of 20 volumes of the Encyclopedia

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF STANFORD, KY.
Capital Stock.....$200,000
Surplus.....16,500

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford.
Under the provisions of the National Bank Act, deposits are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $200,000.
Five sworn statements of condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.
This institution, originally established as the Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1858, then re-organized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1863 and Stanford in 1878, has had practically an uninterrupted existence of 32 years. It is better supplied now with incidentals for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career. Accounts of corporations, firms, clubs, firms and individuals respectfully solicited.

The Directors of this Bank are composed of T. J. Foster, of Stanford; Foreman Reid, Lincoln county;
J. W. Hayden, Stanford;
S. H. Baughman, Lincoln;
M. J. Miller, Mt. Vernon;

BANK OF STANFORD.

(Now closing up) with the same assets and under the same management.
By provisions of its charter, depositors are as fully protected as are depositors in National banks, its shareholders being held individually liable to the extent of the amount of their stock therein at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. It may act as executor, administrator, trustee, &c., as fully as an individual.
To those who entrusted their business to its while operating the Lincoln National Bank of Stanford, we here tender our many thanks and trust they will continue to transact their business with us, offering a guarantee for prompt attention to same, our twenty years' experience in

OF PUBLIC NUISANCES.
MRS. FRANK LESLIE ON CERTAIN FEATURES OF TRAVELING.

Steamship Phantas Children on Board Ship - The Saloon on a Wet Day - Sleep with Your Head to the South - Fans, Perfumes and Little Dogs.

(Copyright, 1891, by American Press Association.)

HAVING passed considerable of my time abroad
every summer it
is very natural
that I should still be irritated by
the pin pricks of
travel, and although I am perfectly sure I can do nothing at all
toward alleviating
them, it will be a relief to my own
mind to specify
some of the worst
and say on paper
what my tongue fairly throbs to utter personally to the objects of my wrath.

Foremost among these I place spoiled children and public nuisances. Children and music are the two chief blessings in life, but I am writing of spoiled children and public nuisances, and I am perfectly sure every honest and fearless traveler, or for that matter stayer-at-home, will agree with me that more discomfort is to be obtained from these two sources in a given time than days of peace can compensate.

One lies in one's berth or on a lounge in the saloon on board ship, haunted by the melancholy and vague forebodings which either precede, follow or serve as substitute for mal de mer, and although life is not apparently worth the living, one endures it with a certain amount of stoical philosophy until somebody sits down at the piano and with a predominant skirmish up and down the keyboard, like the howl of a wild beast in sight of its prey, or the war whoop of a band of Comanches, begins the "Blue Danube" waltz or the "Tausend March," or somebody's dream, or the other one's cradle song, or some frightful attempt at Wagner, or perhaps only a tune and a few chromatic scales.
Whatever it is it is pretty sure to be ill played, and the agony of assisting at all these false notes, fusings, crashes, trying agains and frantic attempts at plunging through by main force, is a foretaste of purgatory to which one should not be called upon to submit before dawn.

Or, if, by some chance, the pianist is competent and the piano in tune, there is something irritating and upsetting about music when one is not well and is longing for quiet. I like music as well as most people, although I don't believe most people like it as well as they pretend to, but I don't like it out of its proper setting and occasion. The opera is a necessity of civilization, and somebody to play and sing at a reception is indispensable, and "a little music" on the water goes well with moonlight, romance and all that, but music when one is gastically unalright, or trying to sleep, or to read, or to find out where one's money has all flown, or to write a letter even while one loathes the pen—under all these circumstances music, no matter how good, is an impertinence, an annoyance, yes, a nuisance, and I always shiver when,
in going through the saloon of a steamer or of a hotel, I see a piano open and grinning defiance at me from every one of its sixty teeth. As for band organs, street bands, ballad singers and all their brotherhood, the world has its opinion and I need not add mine, but if I were an autocrat I would certainly place every variety of music under strict regulations, and see if it might be possible to prevent it from ever again becoming a public nuisance.

As for spoiled children, I am afraid it would be more difficult to abate this nuisance, and yet it is in some respects a heavier one.

Probably there are no other children in the world so bright, so handsome, and yet so spoiled and so irrepressible as American children.
The national spirit of independence develops earlier than the national self respect and self government, which, with the independence, make American adults the most respectable men in the world, but the child the most impossible in the world, unless brought up by exceptional parents, and of course all my friends are of this exceptional class.

But the child whom one often meets on steamers, and at hotels, and in picture galleries, and in all public places is simply a terror. Forward and unbalanced, it takes possession of the best seat, the best window, the best coigne de vent, ruthlessly tripping on one's draperies, laying sticky fingers on one's sleeve or glove, pushing, elbowing and grasping until one is glad to yield for the sake of escape. If conversation is attempted, this kind of child either overwhelms his own questions and comments, or persists in forcing his mother, cousin or aunt to attend to him and his own topics to the distraction of the conversation.

At table this sort of child demands everything and all at once, absorbs the servants and occupies the attention of its natural guardians, who vainly try to convince him that lobster salad, milk, pickles and cheese will not be likely to agree with him, and will "uppose one another," as they say in Spanish, in the course of digestion. He persists in his own selection, and after dinner is either cross as a little fiend or ill, so that manna must retire with him and come back to discourse upon the extraordinary delicacy of Tomany or Totty's constitution and the methods she has pursued to keep the dear little thing alive.

Sometimes a troop of these darlings, on a wet day at sea, turn the grand saloon into a happy hunting ground and play at wild Indians or African hunters in chase of roaring wild animals, or turn themselves into a fire brigade and extinguish mighty conflagrations, their manners either looking on with smiling approval, or, turning their backs upon the whole proceeding, retire to their cabins and their novels while the nurses flirt with the stewards and the governess with the surgeon and purser.

Sometimes the pianos and the children combine their forces, either as a baby who in its nurse's arms thumps the keys with its little fists, or a girl of ten or twelve years old who stumbles through her little "pieces" and feels that she is almost grown up.

Once I heard two little dears disputing as to which could make the most noise, and emulating each other in alternate lunges, but on this occasion the captain himself intervened, and although by so doing he probably gained the undying enmity of both the minims, I loved him and told him so.

The next best public nuisance, in my experience, is the valentianism. Of course I do not mean the patient and gentle invalid whom everybody pities and tries to make comfortable, for no one with a heart in his breast can fail to pity and sympathize with such, but the people who love to fancy themselves ill, and fuss and worry and annoy everybody near them with their continual requirements and objections.

They must have the window shut, or the window open; they can't sit in a draft, and they must have the sun; they can't eat this or smell that, or be in the room with the other thing; may they have this chair, and could you spare that hassock; the color of certain flowers, or of lay, or of that is poison to them; they must have their beds made with the head to the north or they can't sleep; if a thunder shower is coming up they must be provided with feather beds, or insulated chairs, or at least dark rooms, and noisily must laugh about it. This sort of person delights in making a new acquaintance, for this means a new history, and few nuisances are more intolerable, for the time, than a laissez-faire from which you cannot escape, and during which you are forced to listen to a drear detail of every ill and every remedy to which humanity is, or fancies itself, victim.

Akin to this nuisance is the confidential bore the man or woman who insists upon relating to you at great length, and with all the details, some personal history, or some pet scheme, or some family quarrel, or some discovery for which it is hoped to get a patent, or some plan for colonizing central Africa, or the north pole, to which your subscription is desired. This latter point, to be sure, is soon disposed of, and a large experience has given me the great facility in refusing subscriptions, or in promptly offering a much more sum, intended to buy off further solicitation.

Occasionally, however, this does not succeed; the enthusiast persists the money and keeps right on with his prospects. It is to him the most interesting subject in the world, and he cannot understand that it is not so to you; and there is, after all, a weak spot in almost everybody's nature that will not allow one to rudely refuse the sympathy and attention a fellow mortal seems so confidently to count upon, and one listens to the story of imaginary maladies, or the interminable family history, or the pet scheme, until one is ready to drop with weariness and a sort of mental nausea and finally escapes with the sensation of having been dragged through a knot-hole.

A nuisance akin to this is the bepa-voled lady who has taken a fancy to you.
The moment you appear on deck, or in the saloon, or in the drawing room of a hotel she comes breezily floating toward you, shows all her teeth in a delightful smile, kisses you on both cheeks, keeps possession of one hand, gazes fondly into your eyes, sinks down at your side in a sort of sidesaddle fashion and tenderly demands an account of your health since you last met—then she calls you a dear naughty darling not to have eaten more or slept better, and begins to give you the news of the day, mostly in a lulling, sibilant whisper, interspersed with giggles of rapture over jests which you fail to discover, or anecdotes and events which seem to you not in the least worth mentioning. She sits too close, she has too much perfume, she keeps your attention on the stretch without any satisfaction, she tires you, annoys you, irritates you, she is in fact a social nuisance, and yet you cannot escape her without downright rudeness, for, having no tact, she has no sensitiveness, and probably never dreams that her sentimental devotion is not reciprocated.

Another public nuisance in traveling is the schoolmaster abroad. The man who "orates" to strangers, unmoved and often unwelcome. He insists upon giving you information which you don't want, and convincing you upon topics you care nothing about. William Tell may have shot the apple off his son's head, or he may have shot Gessler, or there may have been any Tell, or any son, or any apple, or any Gessler; it is all a matter of profound indifference to me, but I will not soon forgive the didactic hero who spoiled the sunset hour, and the gay little chat I was enjoying that evening in Switzerland, when he felt him- self impelled to instruct us upon both the legend, the correct history, the view of most historians and his own conclusions upon the matter.

Probably everybody who reads this and who has traveled much will be able to add to this brief list of public nuisances others more or less common, and even those who have seldom been away from home will have their own pet nuisances to add back upon.

Among the minor grievances which all of us have experienced both at home and abroad I count fans and big hats. Of course both are proper in proper places, and one who has seen as much of Spanish society and finds it as agreeable as I do must have admired more than once the graceful and significant use those ladies make of fans, and also the fans themselves, some of their perfect visions of beauty, richness and dainty elegance.

But a Spanish woman's fan is never obtrusive although it is very obvious, as much so as her glorious eyes or her brilliant smile, and as much a part of herself. She sways it open with a peculiar clatter of the sticks, but the little sound comes in to fill the pause in a conversation, to accent some remark, to reply to some jest, to give assent or denial or interrogation, but never as a mere in-nuisance noise.

Go to the Tacon, or to any other Spanish theater, and the fans of the women make a harmonious accompaniment to the music or the acting, but go to one of our own theaters and you long to make a bonfire of half the fans in the auditorium. They crack and speak and rattle and chatter in a hundred dissonant notes, and all for want of being held in proper position; they flap like the sails of a boat in a calm; they drive breezes down your back and graze your ears; they get dropped, so that men go scratching around your feet to pick them up; they are, in fact, ill managed—so ill managed that instead of graceful or manners they become nuisances, but there I stop, for I am fond of a fan myself, and I am afraid if I say any more every one will be watching to see how I use it.

As for broad hats, if you want to know whether they are public nuisances, ask the man who sits behind them at the theater.

Another charming ornament susceptible of being made into a nuisance is a little dog, and, dearly as I love dogs, I am practically annoyed by all the trained, ill tempered, ill managed little dogs I have encountered in traveling. Like children, a dog may be a charming companion, a lovely pet and a dear little friend, or it may be so pumpered, ungoverned and ill conditioned as to degenerate into a public nuisance, and here I will stop, lest I be voted one myself.
